Protect your Pipes this Winter

The pipes that run against exterior walls can be subject to freezing. Pipes that freeze most frequently are the ones that are exposed to severe cold, like outdoor water spigots, water sprinkler lines, water supply pipes, and swimming pool supply lines. Prevent the freezing of water supply lines and pipes by following these suggestions:

- Remove the drain and store any outdoor gardening hoses.
- Close inside valves supplying outdoor hose bibs. Open the outside hose bibs to allow water to drain. Keep the outside valve open so that any water remaining in the pipe can expand without causing the pipe to break.

Continued...

- Check your home for water pipes located in unheated areas. Areas like the attic, basement, crawl space, and garage will need to have any exposed water pipes insulated. Home improvement stores sell “pipe sleeves” or UL-listed “heat tape” that can be installed on any exposed water pipes.
- When the weather is very cold outside, let the cold water drip from the faucet served by exposed pipes. Running water through the pipe - even at a trickle - helps prevent pipes from freezing.
- If you plan to be away from your home during winter months, leave the heat in your home set to a temperature no lower than 55° F.
- Follow the manufacturer or installer’s directions and drain water from the water sprinkler and swimming pool supply lines.
- Open kitchen and bathroom cabinet doors to allow warmer air to circulate the plumbing.
